

U. S. ROCKET PUT INTO SUN ORBIT—The United States shot a 94.8 pound sphere, packed with scientific instruments, into an orbit calculated to carry it closer to the sun than man has ever probed before. The artificial planetoid, named Pioneer V, will explore realms of interplanetary space not yet traversed by space vehicles. The drawing at top plots the projected path of Pioneer V, which was launched at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The sphere is on a path around the sun inside the orbits of Venus and the earth. It was launched by a three-stage Thor-Able rocket. At bottom, left, Dr. Abe Silverstein, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Office of Space Flight Programs, details the flight to newsmen. At bottom, right, Lila Luedke, an employee of the Space Technology Laboratory at El Segundo, Calif., traces course of satellite on plotting board. The 94.8-pound sphere was designed to gather data on radiation, cosmic dust and magnetic fields on its planned 295-day orbit—a position it is expected to maintain for 100,000 years.

Signals To Pioneer Break Soviet Record

JODRELL BANK, England (AP)—Britain's giant radio-telescope Sunday night flashed orders 375,000 miles through space to the American Pioneer V satellite, thereby breaking a Soviet space record.

The orders switching on the satellite's radio transmitter traveled 85,000 miles farther than any radio commands previously sent by the Soviets to their Sputniks and Luniks.

American and British scientists at Jodrell Bank said the satellite sent back signals loud and clear.

It described the signal as "a fairly high-pitched wavering whistle." The satellite's transmitter was switched off by a radio command from earth.

A Jodrell Bank Observatory spokesman said the Soviets switched on a transmitter aboard Lunik III at a distance of about 290,000 miles after the rocket had taken pictures of the hidden side of the moon.

He said Jodrell Bank's next contact with Pioneer V scheduled for Monday afternoon is "likely to beat tonight's figure by a lot."

Steel Industry Embarks On Modernization Program

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The American steel industry, faced with growing challenges at home and abroad, is embarked on a huge long-range program of modernization and expansion.

Mill improvement and rehabilitation, while a continuous process since World War II, is taking on new significance for the industry due to increased competition and the country's rapidly expanding economy.

The industry plans to spend an estimated $1,600,000,000 this year for new equipment and construction.

This would be a near-record outlay, second only to the $1,722,000,000 spent in 1957. And some steelmen believe the 1960 estimate might be exceeded.

In most steel companies, the emphasis is on cost-reducing modernization rather than outright expansion.

For example, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. has stressed it is spending $85 million this year to boost mill efficiency and cut production costs.

The steel industry entered the 1960s with annual steelmaking capacity at a record level of some 148 1/2 million ingot tons, nearly 50 per cent higher than 10 years ago.

Even so, John F. Smith Jr., president of Inland Steel Co., said recently the industry must add about 22 million tons to its annual production potential over the next 10 years to keep pace with the nation's economic growth.

Smith said increasing sums will have to be spent on research, development and modernization to meet this challenge and that of "increased competition from foreign steel, aluminum, plastics and other materials."

Nixons Meet With Ben-Gurion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel had lunch with Vice President Richard M. Nixon at Nixon's home in the Spring Valley section of Washington Sunday. Later he arranged to confer with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at Herter's home.

The Nixon luncheon was described as an informal affair with only three other men present. Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, Israeli Ambassador Avraham Harman, and Yasser Arafat, secretary minister.

Total Eclipse Of Moon Seen By Hundreds Here

HUNDREDS of Pocono area residents lost a few winks of sleep early yesterday morning when they stayed up to watch the total eclipse of the full moon.

The astronomers—amateur and otherwise—were blessed with perfect conditions. With the heavens providing the stage, spectators who peered skyward in the cloudless, cold night had an unmarred view of the celestial spectacle being played out for them 237,000 miles away.

The eclipse started at 1:38 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, became total at 2:41 a.m. and ended at 5:18 a.m.

It was the first complete lunar "blackout" since November 1956. A repeat performance has been promised for next Sept. 5.

Throughout the nation, astronomers, photographers and nature lovers watched as the earth's shadow edged into the silvery orb, whose color changed to a weird, coppery red.

During the eclipse, clear skies prevailed only in the northern plains from Montana

Khrushchev Puts Off Paris Trip Because Of Reported Flu Attack

Finch Jury Hamstrung By Near Violence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman member of the Finch murder trial jury said Sunday that a male juror threatened to throw her out of a window as the panel battled to a bitter deadlock.

Bailiffs halted the near-violent dispute, which occurred Friday. Saturday the jury announced they were hopelessly deadlocked.

The district attorney's office immediately announced plans to retry Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, on charges that they murdered the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean.

She Was Scared
Genevieve Lang, 34, a secretary, declined to name the juror she said yelled at her:

"I'm going to pick you up and throw you right out the window."

Mrs. Lang said the man started to pick up the jury table—he started to take off his coat. I was scared.

"One woman ran for the buzzer and buzzed for the bailiffs. Another screamed hysterically at the door. It was terrifying to realize we were locked in there that way."

"One man had been throwing insults at almost everyone on the jury. He threw insults about my family, and I got mad, and told him to be quiet. That's when he said he was going to throw me out the window."

The jury room was on the second floor of the courthouse. Mrs. Lang said that when bailiffs quieted the dispute she told them:

"I want off the jury."

100 Russian Bases Ring Western Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union now has 100 major missile bases along its western frontiers capable of launching death and destruction from Scandinavia to the Middle East, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said Sunday.

Keating said these bases and the principal Soviet missile production centers have been woven into a separate branch of the Soviet armed forces—the missile arm.

This branch of 200,000 men is under the command of an engineer general who is also in charge of all missile testing sites and factories producing nuclear bombs, rockets and guided missiles, Keating added.

Baltic Coast
Keating said the main Soviet missile bases are located along the Baltic seacoast mainly in northeast Prussia, in the Lake Ladoga area between the Baltic and White Seas, in the Thuringian Forest of East Germany, and in the southern Ukraine and the Carpathian Mountains northeast of Bucharest and Budapest and pointing toward Turkey, and the Middle East.

Briton Sees Arms Accord

GENEVA (AP)—Britain's minister of state said Sunday night he believes the 10-nation disarmament talks opening here Tuesday "have a very real prospect of reaching agreement."

Arriving to lead his country's delegation, David Ormsby-Gore told newsmen at Geneva airport the three-stage Western disarmament plan will be introduced in the opening days of the conference. He said he expects the rival Soviet plan also to be brought in promptly.

Mrs. Harvey Possinger Undergoes Rare Surgery

By James D. Shafer
"OPEN HEART" surgery, a relatively new development in the treatment of patients with heart defects, is credited with giving a county woman a new lease on life.

Eleven surgeons worked six hours last Friday replacing one valve, opening one valve and repairing a leak in the heart of Mrs. Harvey Possinger, Stokes Mill Road, East Stroudsburg, in the Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Possinger entered the operating room Friday morning for this rare operation knowing that her chances to survive the operation were "only 50-50," her husband said last night.

"We were both aware of the odds," but then he explained, after you have been bedridden for two years and not allowed to go up or down any stairs along with many other things that were not allowed the chances don't seem to bad.

"We took them and I was sent home today by the doctors. They said Marie was out of the danger period and that she would probably be home in two or three weeks."

Auto Insurance Concerns May Drop Merit System

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A group of insurance companies may drop the merit system recently adopted for Pennsylvania drivers on grounds it is unworkable in the commonwealth.

"The members of the organization feel that the safe driver plan, whereby drivers supposedly are penalized for a moving traffic violation, is unworkable," said Thomas J. Finley Jr., executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Mutual Insurance Companies.

The federation represents 36 firms writing about 20 percent of the automobile insurance business in Pennsylvania.

Demos Urge Complete Ban On A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic science advisory committee said Sunday the United States should seek a complete ban on nuclear tests. It proposed a policing system against violators which it said would increase security and help enforce further disarmament agreements.

The Democratic scientists figured their control system—a strengthened version of proposals previously advanced at the Geneva A-test talks—would allow detection of atomic blasts as small as three kilotons or less, practically the smallest A-weapons.

They said the United States would lose comparatively little military advancement by giving up tests under an enforceable worldwide agreement, and all nations would gain greatly in the long run by this precedent-setting start in controlling the arms race.

The 5,000-word proposal was advanced by the Democratic Advisory Committee's 17-man committee on science and technology headed by Dr. Ernest C. Pollard, chairman of Yale University's biophysical department.

Others members include Trevor Gardner, a former assistant secretary of defense in the Eisenhower administration, and Dr. Harold C. Urey, a Nobel prize-winning atomic scientist.

Inconclusive talks about a treaty to limit nuclear tests have been under way at Geneva for 16 months among the three atomic powers—the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union.

West Reich 'Democratic'

NEW YORK (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Sunday that America could be "confident that Germany today is a democratic Germany."

He said the Federal Republic of Germany is "far from anti-Semitic or National Socialist."

Adenauer blamed recent anti-Semitic incidents on "a minute minority." He accused the Soviet Union of exaggerating the matter.

Adenauer conceded these were "dark times" in the history of his nation. But he said he looked with optimism on the future, if "very important organizations like this council spread the knowledge of understanding and promotion of peace."

Speaking through an interpreter, the 84-year-old Chancellor thanked the American government and its people as individuals for "the generous way the victor has helped the vanquished."

Lenten Meditation

Acts 3:19-26
He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities. (Isaiah 53:5.)

When singing in the choir at the traditional Holy Week performances of J. S. Bach's "St. Matthew Passion," I pondered the curious situation. One minute I seemingly belonged to the enemies of Christ—the chief priests, the blood-thirsty crowd, the jeering Roman soldiers. The next minute I was one of the countless believers of all ages, mourning over the sufferings of the Lord Jesus.

It was a terrible feeling to shout "Crucify!" and in mockery cry out, "Hail, King of the Jews." I wanted to protest. Never, never would I join those who wanted my beloved Lord to be put to death.

Then it dawned on me, more personally than I had ever done before, that I have been one of the millions of sinners who have crucified the Lord afresh by sinning against Him. For my salvation Jesus suffered unspeakable agonies of body and spirit. He gave His life on the cross. His love calls me to repentance.

PRAYER: O God, our Father, as we humble ourselves in Thy presence, we confess our denials and betrayals of Jesus Christ Thy Son. Remove from our hearts a spirit that would make us guilty of crucifying Him afresh. Fill us with the spirit of Christ that we may die to sin and live for Thee. In His name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
If we confess our sins, Christ will cleanse us of all unrighteousness.

Nikita Khrushchev

New Date To Await Recovery

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Sunday postponed his visit to Paris, which was to have begun Tuesday, because he has influenza.

Moscow radio announcers broke into a musical program Sunday afternoon with the announcement. They described the illness as "khrup," from which the French word gripe is derived.

This was the first time an illness by the 63-year-old Khrushchev ever was publicly disclosed.

7 to 10 Days

It will take the Premier seven to 10 days to recover, said an official Tass news agency statement, and it is expected the French and Soviet governments will set a new date for the Khrushchev visit as soon as he gets well.

Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov, in Paris, informed French President Charles de Gaulle Saturday night of Khrushchev's "great regret" that it would be impossible for him to arrive in Paris Tuesday, the statement said.

De Gaulle, who was host to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at the time, expressed his regret and sent best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Khrushchev had planned to spend about five days in Paris and nine days touring the French provinces. He returned only eight days ago from a 25-day visit in the Far East.

Rescue Team Turned Back Near Miners

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—A crack rescue team, trying to save 18 coal miners trapped for five days by cave-in and fire, groped to within 250 feet of its goal Sunday, then turned back.

Hours later directors of the operation indicated they had encountered a new setback in their agonizing efforts to reach the men entombed nearly three miles from the opening of the mine eight miles southwest of Logan.

Mine safety engineers calculated the miners still had enough air to live several more days in a sealed-off area where they were believed to have barricaded themselves from the flames and smoke.

Youth Goes Berserk, Kills Two

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—John "Mike" Hayes, a 20-year-old gun collector who went berserk Saturday and shot to death his father and a family friend, Sunday night was named in two warrants charging him with murder.

"Only God knows why I did it," Hayes told Dist. Atty. Joseph Bloodgood, "I don't."

Killed were the young man's father, Harold, 48, and Walter O. Nelson, 34, an insurance man. Three other persons, including Hayes, were wounded.

Wild Shot
Bloodgood charged Hayes with first-degree murder in the death of his father and murder in the second degree for Nelson's death. He said the lesser charge in Nelson's case was filed because indications are he was killed by a "wild shot" from Hayes' gun.

The shootings followed a party at the Hayes home, Bloodgood said, that was attended by two young couples and the assailant's girl friend. Hayes admitted slapping one of the girls and the guests left immediately afterward, Bloodgood said.

French Take Report At Face Value

PARIS (AP)—The announcement that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has the flu and has delayed his visit to France caused much speculation in Paris on Sunday's sunny spring-like afternoon.

But the fact the Soviet leader has told many people, publicly and privately, of his eagerness for the trip seemed to answer those who suggested Khrushchev might be having a diplomatic illness.

The postponement of a sought French officials by surprise. Bunting already had been put up at Orly Airfield where Khrushchev was expected to arrive Tuesday. Soviet and French flags had been placed on many buildings. Steel barricades for controlling crowds were piled all around Paris.

Premier Tired

There was a hint Saturday, however, that the Premier might be ill, or tired, when suggestions were made at the French Foreign Office for looting off one city from the extremely heavy program planned during an 1,800-mile tour.

Khrushchev, returning from his long Asian trip eight days ago, showed no signs of illness.

Sunday's announcement has been made officially of Khrushchev being ill or even tired. Ceasars normally eliminate any such suggestions from copy from Moscow.

Khrushchev told Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Moscow last summer, however, that he normally took two months vacation each year and that all statesmen beyond 60 should do the same.

Khrushchev will be 66 next month.

Figuring Commissions

By William A. Doyle

Q. I bought 500 shares of stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange at $4.25 a share and was shocked to find that I had been charged $11.25 commission on each 100 shares—a total commission of $56.25. Another time I bought 100 shares of stock on the same exchange at $10.25 a share and was charged only $39.13 commission.

Why was I charged more commission when I bought $2,125 ($4.25 times 500) worth of low-priced stock than when I bought $4,025 ($40.25 times 100) worth of higher-priced stock?

A. That's the way the commissions are set up. Stock exchange commissions are set according to the price of each 100 shares involved in each transaction.

The commission schedule is on a sliding scale. Percentage-wise, the commission charge is higher on lower-priced stocks than on higher-priced stocks. Your experience illustrates very neatly how commissions can vary and can be more costly to people buying lower-priced stocks.

Commission rates are the minimum rates members of a stock exchange charge for handling transactions on the exchange for non-members. The non-members, of course, are you and me—the general public. The major stock exchanges now have similar rate schedules.

The last time the rates were increased was in May, 1958. But it's interesting to note that the Securities and Exchange Commission took a hard look at that boost. On March 30, 1959, the commissions were trimmed back a bit—on lower-priced stocks.

The SEC didn't make any public statements about whether or not the commission rates are "fair." But it's taken for granted that the commission's prodding had a great deal to do with the subsequent cut-back.

Q. My husband will retire in 10 more years. Most of our investments are in stocks of electric utility companies. Should we include one or more growth stocks in our investments?

A. Generally, the answer would be yes. Sensible people 10 years away from retirement normally put at least a small part of their investment money into growth stocks—common stocks that show hopes of putting on a much better-than-average rise in value over the years ahead.

Don't forget, though, that growth stocks carry more risk than the steadier, less spectacular stocks. And, as you get closer to retirement, you should want to get out of growth stocks and into higher income-producing securities.

However, you may own some growth stocks now and not realize it. There are a number of electric utility stocks rating as out-and-out growth situations. As a matter of fact, almost all electric utility common stocks have shown steady (although sometimes a bit slow) growth.

The prices of most utility stocks may not skyrocket overnight. But the steady growth potential is there.

Q. I hold a number of different certificates, all representing common stock in the same company. Can I have all the certificates consolidated into one certificate? If it can be done, will it be very expensive?

A. The transfer agent for the company will handle this chore for you. There should be no charge by the transfer agent.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

3 Women Arrested Trying To Enforce Blue Laws

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — It was business as usual Sunday at the Two Guys From Harrison when they were charged later with Blue for trying to enforce the laws, is something no one would say Sunday night.

There was an air of tension in the suburban Whitehall Twp. store Sunday as Dr. Donald Timmerman appeared. He heads a citizens committee seeking enforcement of the laws against Sunday sales.

On Guard

Assistant store manager Joseph McGlynn saw Timmerman but didn't know if the retired minister was gathering information on which to swear out warrants. Timmerman wouldn't say. He did say, however, it appeared customers would have to be on guard against possible arrest by the store.

Neither McGlynn nor George Hubschman, store manager and an official of the Two Guys chain, would say whether the firm was ready to issue more warrants against those trying to issue warrants against their employees.

Late Saturday three women members of the citizens committee appeared in the store with a constable. They had warrants charging three clerks with violating the sales ban last Sunday by selling them goods.

Before the clerks could be found, a constable hired by Two Guys handed warrants to the three ladies, charging them with violating another section of the Blue Laws banning all worldly activity.

Validity of Ban Timmerman said that in doing so, Two Guys acknowledged validity of the Sunday Sales ban.

Not so, said attorney Morris Efron, counsel for Two Guys. He said the warrants served against the women charged them with violating the 1939 version of the Blue Laws and had nothing to do with Sunday sales. By buying goods on Sunday, he said, the ladies had engaged in worldly activity.

The sales ban was amended in 1959 by the Pennsylvania legislature. Two Guys has been ignoring this ban, which spells out what may and may not be sold on Sundays. Two Guys presently is challenging constitutionality of the amended law in the Supreme Court.

The three women were held in $100 bail each for a further hearing. They are Mrs. Charles Rockel, Mrs. Dorothy Mack and Mrs. Susan Stevens.

Law Ignored The arrests were under warrants obtained last Monday from a justice of the peace, Charles A. Milson. He said he gave the store

Find Five More Alive

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Two women and three men, all Moroccans, were dug out alive Sunday from the ruins of Agadir after being entombed 12 days under debris shaken down by earthquakes. This brings to 20 the number of survivors rescued since last Tuesday.

The five rescued Sunday were found in the cashbar, the Moroccan quarter, a 100 per cent ruin. There is still hope of finding more survivors in an apartment house near the Saida Hotel. Saturday night rescuers with stethoscopes heard knocking under the rubble there.

Final Science Fair Planning Takes Place Tuesday Night

FINAL planning for the 1960 Monroe County Science Fair next week will take place tomorrow night in a meeting of the fair committee at The Daily Record office.

George A. Learn Jr., this year's chairman, said the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and he urged all high schools in the county to be represented by one or more science teachers.

"It is imperative that those who wish to see the fair a success will turn out and share the tasks which remain to be done," Learn said.

The fair is scheduled for March 24 and 25 in the East Stroudsburg Armory. For the second straight year, it is being sponsored by the science teachers of the county in cooperation with the Industrial Management Club and The Daily Record.

Several hundred county high school students are expected to enter exhibits in the competition for awards in the eight divisions. The top three winners in each division will share $240 in cash prizes — $15 for first place, $10 for second and $5 for third.

Contributions

The money is being raised through donations from individuals, organizations, business places and industries throughout the area. A complete list of the donors will be published later.

In addition to the cash prizes, each first place winner will receive a gold medal to be presented by The Daily Record.

Judging of the entries will take place March 23 under the direction of a panel of 24 scientists headed by Dr. W. G. Moore, head of the science department at East Stroudsburg State College.

The public is invited to attend the fair on either Thursday, March 24, or Friday, March 25. There is no admission charge.

Borough To Receive $1,535 In Sewage Treatment Grant

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Payment of $1,535 from state funds to Stroudsburg covering part of the construction cost of the sewage treatment plant serving that municipality is being processed by the State Auditor General's Department, the department said yesterday.

The state grant is made in accordance with legislation enacted a few years ago which provided for payment from state funds to municipalities of a certain sum annually to be applied to cost of operation and maintenance of municipal disposal plants.

Payment being processed amounts to one and one quarter percent of the cost of that part of the Stroudsburg treatment works which is eligible for a grant under the legislation.

The State Sanitary Water Board previously approved the grant which is based on construction cost of only integral parts of the disposal plant, not including sewers.

Total eligible cost of the Stroudsburg treatment works upon which the state grant was based is $122,800.09, according to the board.

Percentage of payment to municipalities is regulated each year by the sum of the appropriation made by the Legislature for sewage treatment grants.

Methodists To Set Budget

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A $3,300,000 special capital improvements budget has been adopted by the Philadelphia Methodist Conference.

The four-year program, adopted Saturday, will be financed through a fund raising campaign to begin in September.

The largest item in the program is $1,400,000 to build new churches and improve mid-city churches.

The conference embraces 333 churches in 10 counties north to the Poconos and west to Lancaster.

Cars Collide On Route 903

JIM THORPE — Fern Ridge State Police reported a two-car collision happened on Route 903, midway between Jim Thorpe and Split Rock Lodge, in Penn Forest Township.

Police said Joseph Evans, 40, of Jim Thorpe was traveling east on Route 903 when his car was struck broadside by a car driven by Sam Smack, Philadelphia, who was moving onto the highway from Township Route 473.

Extent of damages was not estimated by police, but the investigation will be continued.

There were no injuries.

Seedlings Deadline Extended

MAURICE K. Goodard, secretary of forests and waters, announced last night the deadline for procuring seedlings from state forest tree nurseries is extended to March 31.

Extension of the deadline was decided upon to enable the nurseries to dispose of as much existing stock as possible, the department head said.

In the Monroe-Pike-Wayne County area it is expected that better than 150,000 seedlings will be planted this season.

Those desiring state seedlings should contact the state office in Stroudsburg and ask for a nursery stock application.

Community Forest Idea Deserves Wide Backing

A project which should win universal support in the Stroudsburgs and Stroud Township was proposed last week by the Pocono Forestry Assn.

The plan calls for the establishment of a community forest on a 180-acre tract now owned by the Stroudsburg Municipal Authority. The land is located in the Flagler's Run area about two miles north of Stroudsburg in Stroud Township.

The forest would include facilities for both land and water recreation, according to A. Norman Dietrick, technician for the Soil Conservation Service and a director of the forestry group.

Furthermore, he said, the scientific use of forest products from the tract would help defray the costs of operating and maintaining the forest.

The area is within walking and biking distance of the twin boroughs and most sections of the township, making it easily accessible to young people for year-around activities and to older persons seeking a quiet place to relax or to hold outings.

Technical assistance for developing the forest would be available from the Forests and Waters Department, Game Commission and the Soil Conservation Service.

Only major barrier standing in the path of the project is in determining how the money shall be raised to pay for the tract.

No definite price has yet been set by the Municipal Authority and none is likely to be announced until formal negotiations get under way.

While the project has widespread appeal among various civic groups, judging from the comment heard to date, there is no crystallization of feeling as to who should spearhead the drive.

Some people suggest that veteran's organizations should serve as cosponsor, along with the forestry association, as a living memorial to the county's war dead. Others see parent-teacher or similar groups taking the lead, while one person proposes that all service clubs in the area join in backing the project, possibly with government help.

It matters not which idea is accepted, just so some early and unified action is taken. There is the danger, of course, that some individual or private speculative group will contact the authority first, in which case a portion of the tract might be sold from under the community and a golden opportunity would be lost forever.

We urge everyone interested in seeing a community forest and recreation area developed to contact the Pocono Forestry Assn. and offer to help set up a joint meeting at which the whole matter could be discussed.

Out of that gathering should come a definite program for financing the project and developing the tract as a community asset.

Can't Have It Both Ways

It is necessary, because of commitments of the United States, that a comparatively large number of Americans live in foreign countries. They are there in many positions, some governmental, some civilian.

It is to be assumed that many of them have become expert in particular fields and particular countries. Some speak one or more foreign languages.

It takes many years to become expert about anything. I know, from personal experience, that many who write about Russia and China, know nothing about the subject.

A short tourist visit does not make an expert. Often it produces a conceited, self-assured reservoir of misinformation.

So along comes Major General William T. Hefley, commander of the Air Materiel Command, European Area, who is of the opinion that an American "who prefers" living in foreign countries more than four years is not a good citizen and should turn in his passport.

Under the old biennial schedule the only time the quick became a potential problem occurred when a special session was called in the second year of a biennium, or when a session boiled over into a second year such as the 1955-56 affair — the only one of record.

With annual sessions now the routine — by virtue of a constitutional amendment approval last year — the picture on the limping goose front has taken a decided turn.

This year illustrates the point perfectly.

The 1960 "annual" session is under way. Currently it is in recess until June 6 — but meanwhile every one of the 210 seats in the House of Representatives are up for taking this year.

The Democratic Lawrence Administration bloc controls the House (but not the Senate) as matters stand now. The margin of control can just barely be seen — 106 votes, the exact number needed for control and to pass legislation.

Two House seats are vacant and these will be filled at special elections during the April 26 primary. Both however are in highly Democratic Philadelphia and unquestionably the two vacancies will be filled by Democrats.

If this turns out to be the case as expected, it will mean Administration Democrats will have 108 seats in the lower chamber — or two above margin.

That's the on-paper picture. Now enter the lame duck element.

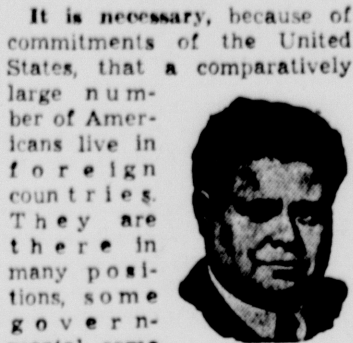

Some 30 House seats presently held by Democrats are being contested this year. The primary election is April 26.

Should for example, three or more of these Democratic incumbents lose out to "new blood" Democratic candidates in the primary next month — there would be that many lame ducks serving in the current 1960 session until their terms expire November 31.

Those "three or more" could well wreck Democratic Administration control of the House! Lame ducks always are dangerous possibilities.

Unconcerned because they are not due to return, disgruntled by previous party dictates which they had to endure, plus a host of similar factors, the lame ducks could well bolt party policy lines — and with the paper thin edge Democrats now have, literally turn everything upside down.

Ordinarily lame ducks are looked as inconsequential "on the way out." Paradoxically this year lame ducks may hold the key to what happens in legislative 1960!

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

By J. M. Roberts (AP News Analyst)

Charlton Heston told the world: "I think the theater is healthier in the hands of tough critics."

The critics are to the theater what a steering wheel is to an automobile. They give the theater a certain amount of direction. But the power and strength of the theater are beneath the hood — and that power is determined by the skill of creative artists. The theater is only as good as the talents of the people who make it possible. The lifeblood of the theater is superb entertainment. And its health depends to a large extent on the creative artists who give it life.

Bob Hays stated: "If I can't have jokes about politics, what does a comedian say? He has to be the only clown of my show. There are kids sometimes, but I don't get that many letters objecting."

The only thing wrong with spoofing politics is that it is rather difficult to satirize caricatures. Politics is its own greatest parody. Don't worry about those who object. The most beloved humorist never stopped teasing politics. Will Rogers, of course.

Critic Walter Kerr wrote: "If there is one odd characteristic of the present season to be filed away in the book of possible portents, I'd say it was the perplexing number of unsuccessful successes."

Thank you, Walter Goldwyn!

Producer Stanley Kramer explained why he hired a Fifth Amendment writer: "If I refuse employment to an artist for any reason other than his ability, then, morally, I am using a blacklist. I have asked myself whether refuge behind the constitutional amendments should be allowed only to those who agree with me. I think those who disagree have as much right to constitutional guarantees as I have."

Of course, a blacklist is immoral. Naturally, those who disagree with us have a right to share constitutional guarantees. But in this specific case, it seems foolish to extend power — and the privilege of utilizing an influential medium of communication — to those who use freedom in order to destroy it. Would you hire a bank robber to work in a bank?

Shelley Winters' declaration: "It's usually difficult to be married, but in Hollywood it's almost impossible. People become competitive in marriages. Now you know, in all careers and all marriages there are up and down periods, but you have a fight and in two days you get over it. Well, in two days in Hollywood you're all over the front pages."

The success or failure of marriage depends on people — not places. There are just as many broken homes in Kokomo as there are in Movieville. Love is not bounded by geography — or the boundaries of careers. While it is true that the activities of stars are magnified by the spotlight — the fact remains that stars are people who are neither better nor worse than people everywhere.

Garson Kanin (director and adapter of "The Good Soup," written by pro-Nazi Felicien Marceau) alibid: "If the charges made against Marceau were to be proven, I would withdraw from this production."

The Belgian government proved the charges with an abundance of documentary evidence. What is Kanin waiting for? Does he expect Hitler to emerge from Hell to testify against Marceau?

Henry Morgan: "Paar most likely abuses his guests and audiences. If the audience doesn't laugh at something he does or says, Paar thinks the audience is in the wrong — not him. There's one thing I will say about Paar. Watching him, you never get the feeling he's superior to you."

Tee-hee. Eric Johnston, the movie exec, expressed opposition to censorship: "If a picture is obscene, the exhibitor can be prosecuted and punished. If a picture offends public decency, the public reaction will become manifest, the producer and exhibitor will be made to realize that their policy does not pay."

Censorship always provides more questions than answers. The biggest query is simply: Who will censor the censors? Over the years, the vulgarity of a small minority in the entertainment field has been exceeded by the tyranny and stupidity of a majority of censors.

Interpreting The News

Panel Seeks To End Strikes

By J. M. Roberts (AP News Analyst)

The people of the United States are so accustomed to conducting their affairs through committees that few of the untemperament panels always at work ever create more than a small ripple.

However, one went quietly to work in New York last week on an agenda which, if successfully carried to a conclusion, could create a wave in American economic history.

It is headed by Dr. George W. Taylor, who headed President Eisenhower's board of inquiry into last year's steel strike. It includes representatives of the Kaiser Steel Corp. and the United Steelworkers of America.

It is assigned, under the contract which ended the strike against that company, to seek out a standard by which the fruits of economic progress can be shared equitably among stockholders, workers and the public.

Its object is to end strikes. A human relations research committee of similar components from the rest of the steel industry, studying similar problems, will soon go to work. The goal will be approached through a maze of problems each of which is almost as complicated as the major theme.

The steel committees will, of course, be involved with many problems peculiar to that industry. Indeed, solution of indigenous problems will be necessary before those of more general meaning can be approached.

But they are entering into a broad field of economic philosophy, a field open to extensive exploration.

The Allen-Scott Report

Nationalizing Cuba

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Premier Fidel Castro is planning to nationalize Cuba's entire economy.

High on the list to be seized is this drastic measure are major foreign-owned industries, including the $100 million nickel plant and extensive ore deposits owned by the U.S. government.

Built during World War II, this huge plant can produce

50 million pounds of nickel a year, approximately one-ninth of the world's output. The plant is now operated by several U.S. companies under contract by the General Services Administration. In 1954, the Eisenhower Administration proposed selling the plant, but that was dropped in the face of strenuous congressional opposition.

Major Ernesto Guevara, one of Castro's closest lieutenants, is authority for the forbidding word that Cuba's economy is to be completely nationalized.

The 30-year-old Argentine-born leftist, who as head of the National Bank of Cuba is, in effect, the economic czar of the country, has been revealing this backstage plan in talks with Latin American diplomats and others he deems "friendly."

In a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on these conversations, the State Department quotes Guevara as saying: "Cuba's economy is to be nationalized so we will not have to be dependent on capitalist investments. All existing foreign investments will be taken over by the government. That will probably take us at least a year to accomplish. But we are firmly determined to go through with it. Cuba's economy will be patterned after the Soviet system."

"Businesses will be run either by the government, or under strict government control."

Two-Fold Threat — The State Department report also attributes to Guevara the statement that he is holding off grabbing the giant nickel plant and ore deposits "until the U.S. shows its hand on the sugar issue."

In inner White House councils, Central Intelligence Director Allen Dulles is strongly advising against letting Castro fall into the hands of the leftist-dominated Castro regime.

The National Security Council, top policy agency of the government, already has determined to use force, if necessary, to retain possession of the strategically vital Guantanamo Bay Naval Base. Dulles is urging the same be done regarding Nicaragua.

In support of this view, the Intelligence chief is citing these significant factors:

The U.S. is heavily dependent on foreign imports for nickel; a strategic metal that is indispensable in the production of supersonic planes, missiles, space vehicles and other new weapons. Russia is also urgently in need of nickel. In Castro's hands, Nicaragua's large output would unquestionably be diverted to the Soviet, thus constituting a double blow to the U.S.

New Berlin Plan — One of the five U.S. divisions in West Germany would be withdrawn, and the 4,600 U.S. troops in West Berlin would be reduced by 1,000 in exchange for a Russian accord regarding that city. That's one of the plans President Eisenhower will discuss with Chancellor Adenauer during their talks here this week. Secretary Herter, Defense Secretary Gates and the Joint Chiefs of Staff favor this proposal. But how Adenauer will feel about it is a big question.

A revolutionary new navigation system was the main reason the Air Force wanted to make some high-level flights in the Berlin air corridor, which the President finally decided against. This new navigation system, that has been installed on all large U.S. transports, cannot be jammed by any known devices.

The system, originally developed for the Air Force's cancelled Navaho missile, is now being used in planes, submarines and missiles. The nuclear-powered Nautilus used this highly effective navigation system in its historic trip under the North Pole.

Reason the Kremlin has stopped clamoring for a non-stop air route between Moscow and New York is difficulty with the new giant turboprop TU-114. This was the plane the Reds boastfully proposed to use on such an intercontinental schedule, but it has turned out to be full of operational bugs.

Foremost among them have been pronounced propeller vibration and gear-box troubles. Difficulties also have been encountered with the landing gear.

First thing Jordan's 20-year-old Crown Prince did when he landed in the U.S. for an extended visit of military installations, was to buy a flashy sports car. An ardent racing driver, the Crown Prince, who is a major general in the Jordan army has a fleet of such cars.

The Pennsylvania Story

Lame Duck Session

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania this year for the first time faces a regularly scheduled "lame duck" session of its legislative branch.

There have been sporadic lame duck sessions in the past insofar as the Keystone State is concerned, but these have not been of the "regular" variety such as Pennsylvania is destined to face this year and every other year in the future.

Legislatively speaking, with annual sessions of the law-making branch on the agenda this year for the first time, the Keystone State is on a par with Congress in Washington — lame duck sessions and all! What it means is this:

In the past, Pennsylvania legislative deliberations were not faced with the limping goose affliction for the simple reason that the session schedule called for meetings only every other year.

Legislative meets in years under the biennial schedule were held in the odd-numbered years. Elections to the 210 seats in the House of Representatives for example are also held every other year — but in even-numbered years.

Thus the spectre of a flock of lame ducks quacking during legislative sessions — that is, those lawmakers whose terms expire that year either because they did not seek re-election or lost out in election contests — up to this year was of little consequence.

Under the old biennial schedule the only time the quick became a potential problem occurred when a special session was called in the second year of a biennium, or when a session boiled over into a second year such as the 1955-56 affair — the only one of record.

With annual sessions now the routine — by virtue of a constitutional amendment approval last year — the picture on the limping goose front has taken a decided turn.

High Salary — Rep. Woodruff, of Michigan, says President Truman's pay is $3,000,000 a year. This includes taxes, cost of entertaining, vacationing, planes and autos, private Pullman car, vacation retreats, staff of 665 persons, travel allowance, cost of yacht, private R.R. car, destroyer escort for the yacht, guards, police, etc.

Russia — In the Soviet election there is only one ticket.

From Europe — 14 European hotel men visited the Pocono Mts. as guests of Economics Coordinator Adm. They were from France, Greece, Portugal and Italy. They will tour New England states and other sections.

Cold — In 1904 it was 36 degrees below zero, according to the Record — so its practically Summer here now.

20 Years Ago

Conservation Rally — Thirty-six organizations will take part in rally under auspices of Pocono Forestry Assn. There will be outstanding speakers including G. Albert Stewart, secretary of the Dept. of Forests and Waters.

Club Birthday — The Lions Club predominates in meeting of Charter Night. They emphasized that the individual owes a duty to the community in which his lot is cast and should join local clubs. Such was the keynote of the address by District Governor Geo. A. Hutchinson. The Lions Internationalist spoke to over 100 of the Stbg. Lions Club.

Presby. Church — The Women's Missionary Society of the E. S. Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Sibley. Mrs. A. A. Holbrook will assist Mrs. Sibley in entertaining. On the program will also be Mrs. Clifford Heller and Mrs. Jesse Flory.

Mt. Pocono — The first day of sunshine this month came to Mt. Pocono. Ice still clings to trees and foliage.

All were fanatically patriotic Americans, more so than those who stayed back home. They were competitive in their patriotism. And many of them, over the years, did jobs for the United States, which brought no titles, no honors, no pay other than the satisfaction of serving.

The General's difficulty arose from the fact that when he sought to make savings and improvements in efficiency, he found a lot of overseas Americans who can live cheaper in Europe, save their money and avoid taxes.

He is sound in going after such folks but he should differentiate between them and those who are doing extremely hard work, serving this country in a program of world leadership and world knowledge which our government initiated. The General said:

"I found that when I wanted to cut out wasteful unnecessary operations, such as warehouses and depots, I first had to get rid of the civilians who had lived overseas so long that they had lost touch with American life."

All this is sound and correct except that we require experts in many fields and those who are sent abroad by the government should have the responsibility of making themselves experts.

For instance, if General Hefley had said that an American in the service of the government, who in four years does not have a working knowledge of each language of each country where he has been stationed, should be brought home, he would be correct.

He might also have stated that if such persons could not pass examinations in some fields of history, literature, social customs, etc., of these countries, they should be brought home, he would have been correct.

For the United States, it is a total loss to give an American the monetary advantages of working abroad, unless that person and his wife and children prepare themselves to be of service in some degree of expertise for the United States.

Time-servers and feather-bedders have no value in the enterprise of even peaceful co-existence with Soviet Russia. What we require are carefully trained men and women in a vast variety of fields.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

We've sort of reduced the moon to the status of just another satellite. We take potshots at it, peek over Russia's shoulder to see what photographs of its backside look like, and we've put it on a schedule so tight that if you wanted to set your alarm clock for 2:41 you could wake up Sunday morning just in time for the total eclipse.

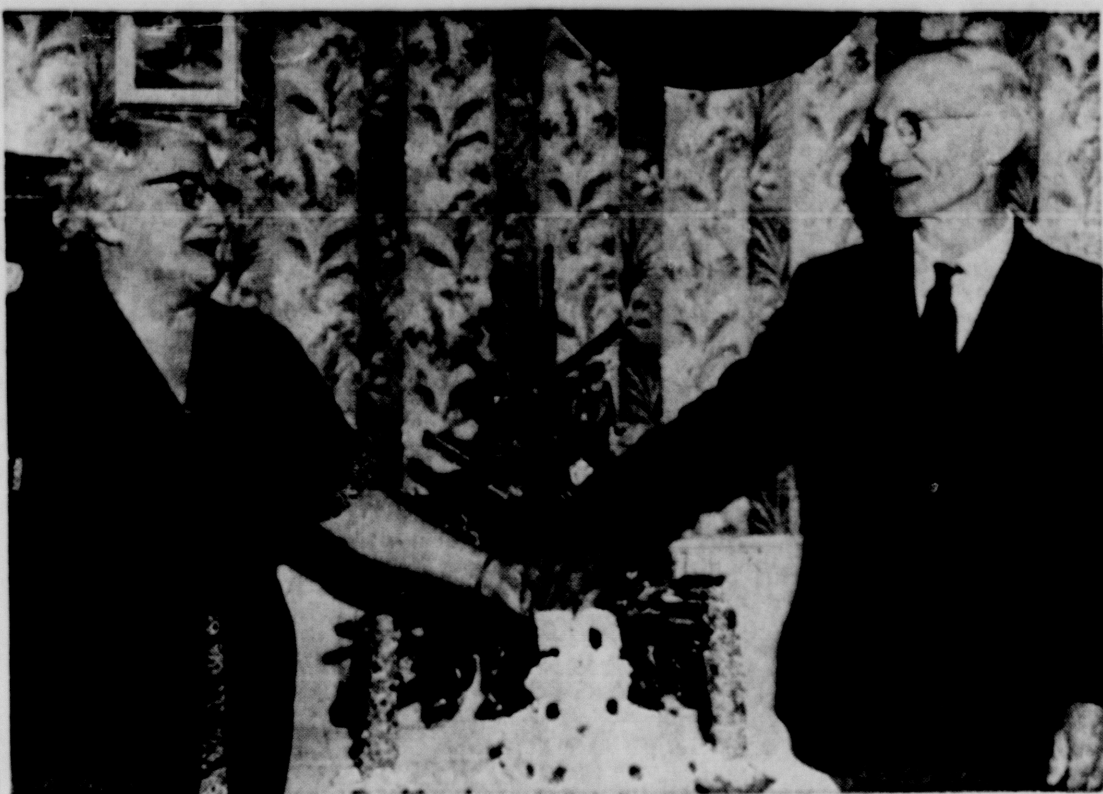

If, however, you are by nature a nocturnal animal and any excuse, let alone one so valid as an eclipse, is enough to make you stay up until all hours you may have had reason to wonder just how effectively science has disarmed the moon.

There it sailed through the cloudless sky; so bright that the withered apples still clinging to the tree outside the window showed black against the sky; so bright that the giant icicles hanging from the eaves glittered like the prisms from a crystal chandelier; so quiet that you could hear the cold creaking of the universe; a universe without color, and without life.

To accuse the moon may be a dead end of matter controlled by the orbit of the earth, but to me, watching it, there came a prickling of the spine that makes dogs and wolves howl at the full moon, and through the centuries has warned men that moonlight makes lunatics, turns men into werewolves and sets the time of planting and of harvest.

No amount of scientific knowledge can dispel the superstitions that have grown up around the moon. And who knows? If the moon can pull the tides of the ocean deep from one side of the earth to the other, what it might be doing to the human heart.

I, for one, was glad to see it dimmed, to see its radiance fade to a dull, red ball, to hurry, shivering, to get to sleep before it emerged again to turn the familiar world of tree and lane, roof and gable into the silver and black landscape of a dream, fit only for disembodied spirits.

What Next For Juvenile Offenders?

Did you ever wonder what happens to children who destroy other peoples property? — Do you know what happens to a boy who takes a car and goes to New Jersey? — What happens to children who steal or shoplift? — Does anyone care what happens to these children?

These and other questions will be answered at Clearview's PTA meeting tonight at 8 p.m. when Capt. Drummond of the Salvation Army will be the guest speaker.

He will give us some reasons why children become offenders and how they are rehabilitated.

This is not a speech on theory, but on real problems in our community at the present time.

There will be a question and answer period following this talk.

Anyone who is interested is invited to attend.

Open Meeting By Alcoholics Anonymous

An open meeting presented by the local branch of Alcoholics Anonymous will be held on Tuesday night at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the YMCA Auxiliary.

According to the Yale University report of Alcoholics Anonymous, a conservative estimate is that there are 5 million alcoholics in this country or ten times as many as suffer from tuberculosis.

The program on Tuesday night will be conducted in the same manner as the regular AA sessions, and will be followed by a question and answer period. Clergymen, teachers, and others interested in the problem are invited.

The program has been arranged by Mrs. Clifford Heller. Mrs. Walter McClelland will introduce the speakers.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Whatever the calendar says, it is officially Spring to my way of thinking when our millinery department has its big opening. There may be sixteen inches of snow on the ground and another blizzard in progress (this has happened several times in the past, believe me!) but one glance at our front window with its jewel-toned chapeaux, and I feel the first attack of Spring fever.

Friday morning I had a wonderful time trying on dozens of Maudie Walton's hats . . . golden straw halos, giant size pixies of black ruffled ribbon with a wide gold straw brim, huge bands of blue flowers that wreathed the hair and were held in place with the sheerest of chiffon over the crown, towering cloches in every conceivable shade, a modern version of the old fashioned boudoir cap reproduced in poufs of beige and brown, and an exaggerated pouf of navy silk, trimmed with a rhinestone beetle.

With me in the millinery department were Maudie, her assistant Helen Greiner, and two customers, Mrs. Edward Kenney and Mrs. Frank Maguire. Both of these very attractive ladies had made their Spring selections—Mrs. Maguire chose blue, I believe, although I didn't see it. Mrs. Kenney was wearing her purchase—a stunning black halo of straw, banded and trimmed in grosgrain.

The department itself is lovely . . . gleaming with fresh paint, new mirrors, and subtle lighting. And there were flowers everywhere . . . not just on the hats, but on the display counters and even on the stairway leading to the second floor.

"I did think the Wyckoff Shopper column would give me a little attention this morning," Maudie grumbled. "But I see she didn't."

"I gave you a full fifteen minutes of air time," I said, "and you have a big back page ad in the Record. Tomorrow you'll have a Wyckoff Shopper column . . . what more do you want?"

Maudie giggled. "As much as I can get," she said. "I want every woman within shouting distance to know about my hats. They're beautiful."

I can't hate her for that . . . they are beautiful, and women should know about them. What's more, I do hope they'll all rush in to make a selection. Right now we have such an extensive stock of exciting styles, the temptation is just too great. Take 'em away someone . . . please, before next pay day, TAKE 'EM AWAY!

Women's hats are not the only news at Wyckoff's. Something is happening here every minute. As a matter of fact, BOY'S HATS are big news too, and Bill Wells has every reason to be delighted with the styles he so proudly displays.

Naomi Fetherman went over the selection with me Friday at Bill's suggestion, and pointed out the excellence of their quality and the very low price tags. Many are Tyrolean in style and as debonair as any boy could find anywhere. The fabrics are interesting: polished cotton, fleecy 100% wool, and cotton plaid. So are the color combinations: red with black print band and feather; black with red print band and feather; charcoal with braided yarn band; loden green with rope band, etc. Sizes are S, M, and L, and the prices 1.98 and 2.98. Dress hats in the same fabrics are priced from 2.59.

Brown Through With Chessman

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "I'm now through with the Caryl Chessman case," Gov. Edmund Brown told his news conference. Any further reprieve, he said, would be an abuse and an excess of gubernatorial power in view of the death penalty abolition bill and the State Supreme Court's refusal to recommend commutation of Chessman's death sentence.

Cramer Notes Plywood Grades

CLIFF CRAMER of the R. C. Cramer Lumber Co., explains to do-it-yourself builders how to determine the various grades of plywood. To begin, Cliff says, plywood is an engineered panel material made from a number of thin sheets of wood (veneers). Select logs are peeled on giant lathes into veneers of uniform thickness. An odd number of veneers, three, five, seven or nine are then securely bonded together with the grain of one veneer placed at right angles to the one adjacent.

Because wood is strong along the grain, Cliff goes on to say, this cross laminated construction distributes the strength of wood in both directions. Poured for plywood is one of the strongest materials known... even stronger than steel.

Look For Marks

When buying plywood, depending on the particular use you have for it, look for the certified grade marks. Here are the rules in certified grading of plywood:

A—Highest standard appearance quality veneer. Smooth and paintable, also suitable for modern light stain-glass finishes. Veneer may be of more than one piece, well joined and reasonably matched; neatly made repair patches are permitted as are shims, streaks and sapwood. No open defects permitted.

B—Permits circular plugs, edges of which may be slightly rough, knots up to one inch if sound and tight, tight splits and slightly rough grain.

Up To Inch

C—Permits knot holes up to 1 inch, small borer holes, 3/16" or less, tight knots up to 1 1/2" various repair patches.

D—Permits holes up to 2 1/2" pitch pockets, limited splits, repair patches.

(AA means A Grade both sides, AD means A grade face and D grade back.)

200 Observe Birthday Of Girl Scouts

APPROXIMATELY 200 Girl Scouts in the East Stroudsburg Neighborhood, which includes troops from East Stroudsburg, Marshalls Creek and Shawnee-on-Delaware, celebrated the 48th birthday of Girl Scouts of America on Saturday at the Elks Club.

Mrs. Roger D. Acker started the afternoon's activities by leading the group in a number of Girl Scout songs.

Miss Barbara Hartman, who has been doing missionary work in the Belgian Congo, showed colored slides of the natives there. Her presentation depicted the mode of living and both the educational and recreational activities of the children in Africa.

Miss Hartman then presented a tape recording of the children playing their favorite game of "riddles" and of a group singing a prayer in their native tongue.

Dance, Choral Reading

Misses Roberta Slezak and Joan Kasson, seniors at East Stroudsburg State College, conducted the Girl Scout dances in which everyone participated.

The choral reading, "The Wish That Came True," which revealed Juliette Low's dream "to leave a work of art for which she could be remembered forever" was read by Terri Lee Serfas, Denise France, Elaine Kauffman, and Julie Snow, members of Troop 61.

A candlelighting ceremony followed. Three girls, one from each division of scouting, began by lighting the table candles. Ricky Green, representing the Brownies, gave the Brownie promise as she lit the first candle. Nell Dishman, representing the Intermediates, gave the motto as she lit the second candle, and Jennie Fisher, representing the Seniors, gave the Girl Scout slogan as she lit the third candle.

Everyone present received a small candle which was lighted by a designated representative of each troop. For a moment after the candles were lit the Girl Scouts stood silently, impressed by the sight of the flickering candles, and then, led by Mrs. Acker, gave the Girl Scout promise and sang "Girl Scouts Together." After blowing out the candles, everyone was served birthday cake and soda.

The committee in charge of the event included Mrs. J. Paul Hart, Mrs. George Caramella, Mrs. Rudolph Blitz, Mrs. Clifford Kintner, and Mrs. Alfred D. Sumberg, East Stroudsburg Neighborhood chairman.

Game Commission Reports Browse Cutting In Progress On State-Owned Property

MARCH and April usually are the critical months for deer in Pennsylvania, the State Game Commission observed yesterday. Though the first half of the present Winter was comparatively mild a continuous operation of browse cutting has been in progress on state game lands since the beginning of the year, the agency said.

Particularly since the deep snows of recent weeks, outdoorsmen have traveled to state game lands to view the way cuttings made earlier have been utilized by deer and to watch the Game Commission's food and cover corpsmen fell trees and brush, of little or no market value, to bring browse within reach of the animals. The commission's field officers said they will plan and conduct tours on the state lands and explain the wildlife management program on the tracts.

Sights of Interest. On such trips sportsmen find many things of interest. Wild turkeys or signs of the birds and feeders for them attract attention. Tracks in the snow and other signs tell of the winter activities of woodland creatures in a season when few hunters go afield. Deer are usually seen.

In most sectors of the state nuts, berries and other natural foods were in fair to excellent supply during the fall and early winter. Therefore deer, turkeys and other inhabitants of the woodlands were in good condition before the deep snows arrived the latter part of February and early March.

Game Commission employees have placed supplies of ear corn in feeders for the hardy turkeys. Warm weather being just in the offing, the browse placed at the disposal of deer on state game lands and that dropped incidentally on these lands and on private holdings where timber is being cut will greatly help deer to "weather through" to Spring, the commission said.

"In my Sullivan County district, this Winter has been rough but the last snow brought down a considerable amount of deer browse," said Game Protector Robert Benscoter. "The heavy snow caused a great number of tree limbs and tops to break off. The deer have been feeding on the browse dropped to the ground, and they are in good condition for this time of Winter."

Yanks Contender Says Boss Casey

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is one in a series on the major league teams.

By Walter L. Johns
Central Press Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The "Old Perfection" of the Yankees, the part-time banker Casey Stengel, is trying to find the right prescription to revive his former champions this year. From his approach to the situation in camp here, Dr. Stengel is ready with the diagnosis.

As Casey talks, and the finish last year hasn't left him speechless, one might think this was a hospital, not a baseball training camp, for Casey begins by talking about his patients in numerical order.

"No. 1," he says, "we're in good physical shape. No. 2, Skowron reported very good and he's healthy. No. 3, McDougald had the flu but he can play ball. No. 4, Andy Carey is well, thank you, and he's healthy."

Double Talk
"No. 5," Casey pauses "that's about our cripples. They're not crippled and not sick and I can't tell you much about our pitchers except..."

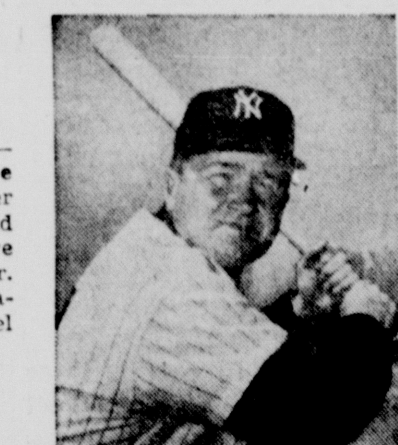

Excepting, of course, that Casey can tell you about his pitchers, and he never stops from here on in.

"We have Ford, and he's said he felt a little tickling feeling at the end of the season but he's all right," Casey rattles on.

"Now Turley, he can pitch. He said he'd try something and take off some weight. However, his arm isn't sore and he can pitch."

Ditmar Liked
"Now for the rest of our pitchers. Ditmar is okay and he pitched good for us last year. Coates might become a good pitcher."

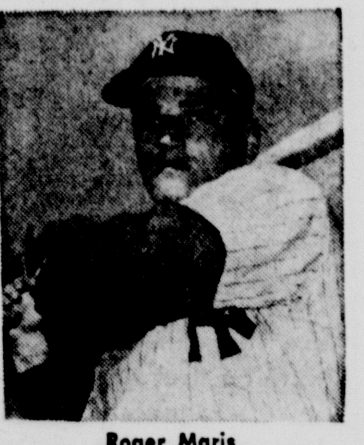

"This kid Short had the best record in the minors last year but he's in the Army yet. Grba came up last year after all our officials picked him as the one to help the club. Johnny Gah-ler? ... Well, any guy who can win as many games as he did for Denver the last three years may be able to pitch, for Den-

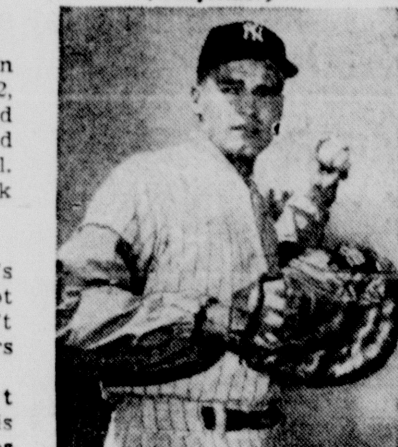

Elmer Valo (Outfielder)

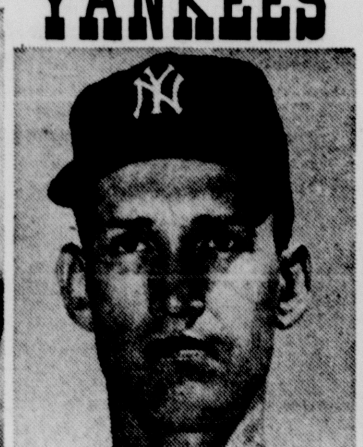

Hector Lopez (Pitcher)

Roger Maris (Outfielder)

Kent Hadley (Pitcher)

John Gahler (Pitcher)

Joe Dimastri (Infielder)

ver's not in a pitching league. "Then we have Jim Bronstad and that Zack Monroe might just help us. You know we have Duke Maas, too, and he won 14 games for me last year."

Casey went on and on, but a word of explanation. Short, who is ranked highly, won 17 and lost six for Richmond. Bronstad was at Richmond, as was Grba and Monroe.

James Ready
Casey also talked about a young reliever, John James, also up from Richmond, and Casey commented that "if we were to play a game tomorrow, James would be in there ready to go five innings."

Outfielders? Casey says: "We've got six of them. Some days that Mantle is amazing."

Ken Hunt (up from Shreveport) has a good throwing arm. We have Maris and he's a good hitter. He can help us win at home.

"Then we have Hector Lopez, and it's only a question of where we should play him. He knocked in 93 runs last year to lead this club so you know he can hit."

"We've Deron Johnson and he can play the outfield and infield. Frank Leja is about ready and he can hit. In the infield there's those first basemen. Skowron and Kent Hadley, and I ask you what's wrong with Hadley?"

Trades Help
"That Brickell at short is a good one and what about Clotis Boyer? He has a good arm and can make the double-play. We have Elmer Valo to pinch-hit and we have Demastri to play short and he can play it." The Yanks picked up the hard-hitting Maris from Kansas City, as they did Hadley and Demastri.

Seriously, Casey takes some of the blame for last year's retreat, and feels that the Yanks will come back if Mantle, Berra, Skowron and Turley can do the job like they have done in other years.

CAPSULE COMMENT
On New York Yankees
Finish last year—Third.
Pitching — Could be good if Turley comes back.

Infield—Some problems; need help from last year's cripples.
Outfield—Roger Maris adds power.
Overall—A contender, to be sure

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

For Monday, March 14, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Bold passion, emotions under careful control. They can cause anguish to you and others if out of control. Boudy day for surveying, ambitious enterprise, new worthy things.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't start so quickly you lose the reins. It can happen. Make sure of best route, have facts, think it over where necessary, but then do begin in earnest, and stride forward.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — We can wait too long times, lose out. Or sometimes delaying action over-crowds later days and causes nervous, rough edges. So set things straight promptly; favors await you.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Good day for initiative, action, but also careful direction and surely steady control of faculties and energies. Go! But know where, and how.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Sober thoughts must precede action; right incentive and intentions must accompany sober thoughts. From the brain cell, great conclusions may evolve. Know what you are about.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Mercury's position tends to quickened pulse in both everyday and unusual matters. Seek best results through best methods. Forget trifles; add you his for harmony.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Profits must not first be necessary ones, but rather the spirit and method, then the material will come naturally. Libra knows excellent ways WHEN he (she) acts under due, reasonable, beneficent, gains and in development of talents. Better than average day for your occupation and other helpful talents. Fine for week's start.

October 24 to November 21 (Scorpio) — Much to be hoped for in benefits, achievement, monetary gains and in development of talents. Better than average day for your occupation and other helpful talents. Fine for week's start.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Though your Jupiter is not stimulating in tendency; it is progressing to a fine position tomorrow. All worthwhile interests, science, research, nuclear physics among the honored.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Have no quarrel with today's offerings and the grain likely through intelligent management of your schedule. You can do well if you employ your full equipment of know-how. Be cheerful.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Show more spirit and less anxiety; this can be productive and progressive day. Don't blame anyone for failure; it is up to you. Meet new propositions, accept fresh ideas.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Your Neptune with other planets today make for a pleasant, stimulating outlook. Your specific duties and general interests have fine encouragement. Don't weaken if activities seem dull.

BOB ROY TODAY: Generous, likeable, unselfish, usually calm and capable than many who are very articulate about their own values. Have more faith in yourself. There is no reason why Pisces should not be successful. Important that you associate yourself with strong, permanent enterprises and keep friends who are ambitious, but of course honorable. You can be an asset to any group, business and social. Make wonderful religious, and managers of institutions. Pray daily for children. Pray for Johann Strauss, Austrian music composer, Prof. Albert Einstein, famed physicist and many other notables in many fields.

No Ceiling Fixed In Cancer Drive

For a second successive year, "Guard Your Family" will be the rallying note of the Cancer Crusade which opens here April 1. It was announced yesterday by Edward Krawitz, crusade chairman of the Monroe County unit of the American Cancer Society.

Both the national and local drive last year was the most successful in the history of the Cancer Society, according to Krawitz.

"No ceiling has been set on the amount of money needed," he said. "We believe that you can't measure human life in dollars and cents. The Cancer Society supports more than 1,000 scientists who are trying to defeat cancer for all time."

"However, our volunteers will be fighting cancer now and here. In addition to canvassing for funds they are spreading the call for early detection in the slogan 'Fight Cancer with a Checkup and a Check.'"

While the national drive has declared a "goal unlimited," the minimum goal for Monroe County has been set at $7,500.

Krawitz said that local volunteers will distribute free literature through April, Cancer Control month.

Dr. Julian and Clara Ambrus work at Roswell Park Institute, Buffalo.

Dr. Robert and Annabel Leibelt do leukemia research at Baylor University.

At Roswell Institute, Drs. John and Ruth Graham seek to determine whether radiation or surgery is best for cervical type.

HUSBAND-WIFE TEAMS IN CANCER RESEARCH—The American Cancer Society cites these husband-wife teams in cancer research together as it calls attention to its national fund-raising April Cancer Crusade. The work of more than 1,000 cancer researchers throughout the nation is being supported with funds raised by the American Cancer Society.

Model, Two Others Dead

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—

Thousands saw the aircraft strike high-tension wires and plunge into a 45-foot dam, 21 miles from Melbourne. The helicopter was to have towed a water-skier in a jumping stunt over a dam.

The flight engineer, Keith Harvey, jumped out of the falling helicopter into the water and was the only survivor. He suffered shock.

Pre-Election Violence Hits South Korea

SEOUL (AP)—Violence broke out in South Korea again Sunday in the dying hours of the campaign for Tuesday's presidential election. Two opposition Democratic Party workers were beaten up and students defied a police ban to demonstrate in this capital.

With death removing his only opponent, President Syngman Rhee and his Liberal Party concentrated on electing his right-hand man, Lee Ki-Poong, as vice president. Lee lost by 200,000 votes four years ago to John M. Chang, the Democratic nominee who is running again.

Despite pleas from Rhee for fair and clean elections, and police reinforcements, the violence that took the lives of two Democratic party workers last week continued.

Two Men Beaten
Lee Yung-Bok, chairman of the Democratic Party's electioneering committee at Incheon, the port for Seoul, was beaten up early Sunday by four men with clubs and steel bars. Yoon Yung-Hwan, a poll watcher, was beaten up by two men at Kimje, 130 miles south-east of Seoul.

The Democrats charged the attacks were a part of a campaign of intimidation by Liberal Party supporters. About 200 high school students took up the charge and scattered handbills and chanted slogans accusing the Liberal Party of campaign irregularities. They were dispersed by police.

Last week two Democratic Party workers, Kim Yung-Ho and Lee Sang-Chol, were killed by hoodlums.

A victory for Lee, the Liberal Party vice presidential nominee, is being predicted by his party, newsmen, many foreign observers and voters polled in both city and country. Even Democrats privately are conceding defeat.

Rhee's Health

The vice presidency is vital. Rhee, who has ruled South Korea since its founding 26 years ago, will be 85 March 26. Some say his health is uncertain, although the Liberal party denies this.

The president and vice president for the next four years will be elected on separate ballots by more than 10 million voters.

Rhee was assured a fourth term last month when his only rival, Dr. Chough Pyong-Ok, of the Democratic Party, died in a hospital in Washington.

Lee, 63, and Chang, 60, are meeting in a situation similar to that of 1956. Chang was the running mate of P. H. Shinicky, a popular candidate of the Democratic party, who died 10 days before the election. Lee, Liberal party leader in the National Assembly, was Rhee's running mate.

But four years ago, Shinicky died at the height of a vigorous campaign. There is little difference in the basic policies of the two parties. Both are strongly anti-Communist, pro-U. S. and conservative. Their contest relies heavily on personalities.

Koreans Return

TOKYO (AP)—Two more shiploads of Koreans migrating from Japan to Communist North Korea arrived in Chongjin Sunday, bringing the total repatriated to 12,069.

Two Soviet vessels, Tobolsk and Krilov, carried 1,046 Koreans on the latest 50-mile voyage, Pyongyang radio said.

Lewis-Martin Comedy Team Reconciled

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jerry

Lewis and Dean Martin reconciled early Sunday on the same stage where they once had their worst fights.

Patrons at a Las Vegas hotel even saw some of the old Martin and Lewis comedy routines for the first time since the team split four years ago.

The ad-libbed reunion stems from an incident several weeks ago.

Dean was shooting the movie "Ocean's 11" in Las Vegas when he complained of severe headaches and dizzy spells. Word got out that he might have a brain tumor.

In Florida

Jerry was shooting his movie, "The Bellboy," in Miami Beach at the time. When he heard of Dean's fears, he forgot the feud and called his old partner.

Fortunately, Dean's headaches were caused by overwork, not a tumor. A few days rest and he bounced back.

Jerry, meanwhile, knocked himself out to finish his picture before the actors' strike. He couldn't make his opening at the Sands last Wednesday night.

Jack Entratter, president of the hotel where the two last appeared as a team, said Dean offered to fill in until Jerry was able to show Sunday night.

Boxing Gloves

Jerry was in the audience for Dean's last show Saturday night and applauded vigorously.

Finally, Dean announced: "Now folks, I want you to meet that brilliant young comic, Jerry Lewis my partner."

Jerry climbed on stage, walked directly into the wings and came back wearing a pair of giant boxing gloves. Then the two started off on their old routines, a little awkward at first, but the customers soon applauded them lustily.

FOE To Honor State President

A movie on natural gas will be shown.

Refreshments will be served following the movie.

Dear Abby

New Ideas Vs. Old Ones

Dear Abby: My mother lives with us. I know she is an old lady, but listen to this and tell me if I'm wrong.

She is a fanatic on house-keeping. If I put down a piece of paper even for a minute while I go for a pencil, when I come back the paper is crumpled and in the wastepaper basket. When people are smoking she will take the ash tray away from them and empty it. She is always busy polishing door knobs and every little bit of chrome, brass or silver she can find. All this constant polishing and tidying up makes her look like a perfect housekeeper and by comparison I suppose I look like a slob. What can be done about it? She is 77 and I am 45 and she wears me out.

WORN OUT

Dear Worn: You ought to

Reeders

Mrs. Bert (Eleanor) Martin
Ph. Stroudsburg 1444-R-3

MRS. Jeanne May, teacher of first and second grades at Jackson Township Schools, has been absent for some time due to an attack of flu. Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Gantzhorn of Tannersville have been substituting.

Condolences are extended to Mrs. Adalade Haney due to the recent death of her mother, Mrs. Jennie Courtright.

Cathy and Judy Martin, and Linda Paul (not visible on picture) were among those to have their picture taken for the 1961 Girl Scout Calendar. The girls belong to Reeders Troop 3. The picture was taken in Stroudsburg.

Recent birthdays in the vicinity were: March 8, Wayne Singer; March 9, Terry Martin; March 10, Beatrice Price; others in March include: March 16, Avon Doll; March 18, Emmitt Derrick; March 21, Verna Johnson; March 25, Marie Bonser; March 29, Marian Drury, Nettie Martin and Mary Slinger. Anniversaries: March 20, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Motz; March 23, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bond.

The Jackson Township PTA has planned to make and sell Easter eggs. Samples were brought to the March meeting and included peanut butter, cream, cherry and nut filled, and coconut. Chocolate covered and colorfully decorated the eggs will be sold by members. Also at this meeting Mr. Davenport of the Pocono Mountain Jointure gave a talk on preschool children and also information on the new junior-senior high school being built in the jointure. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Saylorsburg

Mrs. Thomas Trach and Mrs. Samuel Trach were recent visitors in Bethlehem.

be thankful that you have an energetic, healthy mother bustling around your home. If she wants to polish and tidy up—let her. It will keep her busy and happy and it won't hurt your house. Next time a speck of dust settles—race for it! (I'll bet on Mamma.)

Dear Abby: My husband works from 3:00 p.m. until 11:00 p.m. He used to get home at 11:30 every night.

Lately he's been getting home at 2 and 3 in the morning with a fresh shave and smelling pretty. He claims his whiskers haven't been growing lately. I think he must be lying to me. He used to come home needing a shave. I would like to know where he is getting these shaves and why.

SUSPICIOUS

Dear Suspicious: If he denies that he has had a fresh shave when it is apparent that he has, you won't have to look far for the gay blade. Behind every "second" shave there's usually a "two-timer."

Dear Abby: I am a girl who is 13 but I look about 16. My Daddy died when I was seven and Mamma married another man. I always liked my step-Daddy, mainly because he would buy me candy and he was extra good to me.

He used to kiss me a lot and put his arms around me and pull me down to sit on his lap. He offered to teach me how to drive a car. I know now that it was just an excuse to get me alone. I am scared to death of him, Abby, because he is too friendly lately. I can't tell my mother because it will break her heart. She thinks he is perfect. Tell me what to do, please, before I run away.

SCARED GIRL

Dear Scared: Tell Your Mother!

ELECTRICITY

IS YOUR CLEANER WAY TO COOK!

Your kitchen keeps its bright, brand-new beauty when you cook with a wonderful electric range. Walls and ceilings stay cleaner longer...curtains keep their crisp, just-ironed look. Even the air is garden-fresh Electric cooking means less scrubbing and scouring, too. There's no pilot to light, no flame to go out...no soot to blacken cooking utensils. And the surface units of your new electric range are self-cleaning. So, don't worry if you spill soup or sauces—spills will burn off. The broiler pan slips out for quick cleaning. And to keep the range surface sparkling, just wipe it with a damp cloth.

You'll enjoy cooking—and living—in your clean, pleasant, all-electric kitchen. See the newest electric ranges at your dealer's during the All-Electric Kitchen Carnival.
